Dear Lindenhurst,

We miss you. We miss seeing you walk into our building, our classes and programs. We miss seeing you at the customer service and reference desks. We miss seeing you on the computers, whether you were doing research, making connections, or just surfing the web. We miss seeing our littlest patrons in our early learning classes, and we miss seeing our teens after school in the Teen Zone. We miss our seniors who came to read the paper, check out a book, or take an AARP safe driving course – or came to a concert. We miss every single one of you, and are working hard behind the scenes to make the necessary adjustments to a public building, in order to welcome you all back when it is safe to do so.

In the meantime, staff have been working hard for the community. They have expanded our virtual program offerings, begun two new staff blogs (one for adults, one for youth services), have taken our social media sites into new territory, and are now providing chat reference service, six days a week. They launched a new YouTube Channel, filled with original programming. They have offered Facebook Live events, and started a new group called “The Conversation Club.” New products such as online tutorials from Niche Academy are available to help you navigate different databases, social media sites, and more. We are answering voice mails and emails, so please reach out to us with any questions you might have.

(info@lindenhurstlibrary.org)

Not surprisingly, virtual statistics have seen huge increases; most notable in the Overdrive eBook collection, and the popular online tutor sessions available through Brainfuse. We hope to soon launch curbside pickup of materials for all patrons, once the County is cleared to begin phasing in services. Thank you for those who have held onto over 5,000 checked out materials during this time for us. We promise to have updated information soon as for when you can start dropping off those items for return.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, Administration, and the entire staff of the Library, we promise to continue to be here for you during these surreal and difficult days. We truly love the Lindenhurst community and can’t wait to open our doors and welcome everyone back into the physical building. In the meantime, please continue to stay safe and well. We also want to thank all of our local first responders, healthcare workers, sanitation workers, food and gas store workers, and all the businesses who stayed open and continue to work to allow the rest of us to stay home and help flatten the curve, together.

STAY IN TOUCH!

Hint - We REALLY need your email address!

Adding an email address to your patron account lets you receive your renewals, overdue notices, and program registration reminders in one handy spot. You will also be on the front edge of Library news, as we begin to launch monthly digital newsletters to keep you informed of added programs, services, and materials. An email is required to use any of our digital services. Contact us at circulation@lindenhurstlibrary.org to have your email address added to your patron account.

If you already have an email on file, you can log into your own patron account using these simple steps:

2. Click on my account
3. Type in your library card barcode (located on the back of your library card 21801...)
4. Type in your password - if you don’t have a password, click on Create a password. If you forgot your password, click on the Forgot Your Password? link.
5. Update your information in the Change Your Contact Information link.
