Updated June 2021

May I be one of the first to say, welcome to our community! Lindenhurst has become my “home away from home,” and I have fallen in love with its wide variety of shops, restaurants, and community organizations. I am not exaggerating when I say that Lindenhurst has a group for everyone! It is one of the most engaging and active towns that I have seen throughout my career.

This Community Guide was created long ago by a reference librarian, as a way to connect residents with local information. It was resurrected in 2018 and now lives primarily as a link on our website so it can be constantly updated. However, the opportunity to connect with the newest residents of Lindenhurst called for a special print run for the Chamber of Commerce and BID welcome packet. We hope you find it a useful tool as you explore the downtown areas of the Village, head north on Wellwood, or further south to breathe in some fresh salt air.

While many of us have fond memories of a childhood spent among the shelves of a quiet and perhaps hushed library space – today's library users have new needs and requests for public spaces that have pushed the boundaries of how a library building was once viewed. From our collections, to social work interns, museum passes, Wi-Fi hotspots, offering programs in partnership with community groups and businesses – today's modern library offers something for everyone.

Just as The Wel grew to serve the space needs of a changing community, so is your community library. A complete building renovation and expansion begins in July 2021, and our new space will feature additional community meeting spaces, a dedicated quiet study room, Learning Lab, lots of reading nooks, and plenty of public computers. You can view our progress at:

<https://lindenhurstlibrary.org/library-building-project-updates>

In the meantime, after you have taken some time to look through this guide and mark all the fabulous organizations and businesses that you want to visit, we hope you add the library to your list! In fact, you can “enter” the library from your home by downloading our new mobile app where you can apply for a library card online. Visit www.lindenhurstlibrary.org for full details. If you have an immediate question or suggestion for us, please email me at lkropp@lindenhurstlibrary.org and schedule a time to visit. I always enjoy meeting and talking with the users of our library and community members.

Welcome again to the neighborhood! Lisa Kropp, Library Director
Member of the Lindenhurst Kiwanis and Lindenhurst Rotary Clubs
